THE FIFTY-NINTH CONGRESS EXPIRES AT NOON TOMORROW

Ardmoreite Special.

Washington, March 2.—The Fifty-ninth congress, which expires according to statute at noon Monday, is today holding its last business session. The Solons are making the most of their last day of work and it is likely that the session will last far into the night.

Nearly all of the congressmen will leave immediately for their homes and practically all the available births on trains of all roads have been engaged for Monday or Tuesday. Drays piled high with the congressional boxes, furnished to all members in which to pack stationery and records needed at home during the recess, are also much in evidence and supply additional proof that the annual migration is at hand.

Although few measures of great national importance have been passed, the Fifty-ninth congress has been in many respects a notable one. In that it has ground out a tremendous number of bills directly affecting the people of the country in their every day life. Perhaps the law of greatest public importance throughout the country, which has been passed by both houses and approved by the president, is that prohibiting corporations and national banks from making contributions to campaign funds.

When the gavel falls at noon Monday ninety-four representatives and a dozen senators will sing their swan songs and retire, at least temporarily, to private life. The number of "dead ducks" in the house of representatives is the smallest in many years, as in many recent elections the voters have sent more than a majority of new men to represent them in the lower branch of the national legislature.

The next senate will consist of sixty-one republicans and twenty-nine democrats, the latter party having lost a senator each in Colorado, Idaho, Oregon and Montana. It is a notable fact that the richest and poorest men in the upper house will retire on Monday, the first being Senator William Clark of Montana, and the other being Senator John Gear of Oregon, who has admitted without shame that he is entitled to the badge of poverty. The retirement of Senator Dryden of New Jersey, the insurance magnate, also effects a considerable reduction in the wealth represented by the national "millionaire's club." The death of Senator Alger of Michigan, who is succeeded by Representative William Smith, also takes another millionaire from the senate. The loss in wealth will be partly made up by Simon Guggenheim, the smelter magnate, who succeeds Senator Thomas M. Patterson of Colorado. Henry A. Richardson of Delaware, another new comer to the senate, is also reputed to be a multi-millionaire. The other is no longer prime requisite in securing a seat among the American legislative lords.

Three of the new senators, Nixon of Montana, Curtis of Kansas, and Smith of Michigan, are graduates from the lower house. Joseph M. Nixon, who succeeds Senator Clark of Montana, was born in North Carolina in 1837 and has served two terms in the house. Charles Curtis, who succeeded Senator Benson in the "fatal Lane succession," is part Indian and a native of Kansas. William Alder Smith, who has filled out the unexpired term of the late Senator Alger of Michigan and who will begin his full term on Monday, was born in Michigan in 1859 and has served six terms in the house. All these are republicans.

Ex-Governor Jefferson Davis, who will serve his native state, Arkansas, in the senate, was born in 1862 and was the only governor of that state to be elected three times. If half that has been said of him is true he will make Senator Tillman of South Carolina look to his laurels as a fire eater. Other new democratic senators from the south are: Robert L. Taylor, former governor of Tennessee, who was born in that state in 1850, and Thomas H. Paynter of Kentucky, born in the blue grass state in 1851 and who served as a member of the house in the Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third congresses.

All of the new senators to come out of the west are republicans. They included William E. Borah of Idaho, Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon, Norris Brown of Nebraska, and Simon Guggenheim of Colorado. Bourne has the honor of being the first United States senator to be elected by direct vote of the people and as such has been accorded much attention since his arrival in Washington. Brown of Nebraska will be one of the youngest members of the senate and also one of the poorest, not even owning his own home. William E. Borah is a native of Illinois, a graduate of the University of Kansas and will be 42 years of age next June.

WRECKED TRAIN BURNS UP

Seaboard Passenger Train Crashes Into a Freight—Engineer is Cremated and Four Trainmen Injured—Shake Up.

Powder Springs, Ala., March 2.—Seaboard Air Line passenger train No. 28, from Birmingham for Atlanta, ran into the rear end of a parted freight train one mile east of here last night.

Engineer Charles Hutchins of Cartersville, Ga., of the passenger train was cremated under his engine; the colored fireman and baggage master were seriously injured and the mail clerk and Pullman porter were slightly injured.

There were about fifty passengers on the train and all were badly shaken up, but only one sustained a slight injury.

Immediately after the collision, the wreckage took fire and the entire passenger train, consisting of a Pullman sleeper, three day coaches, a baggage and express and mail car, and three freight cars were burned.

A flagman had been sent back by the freight train, but he claims he was unable to stop the fast approaching passenger train in time to avert the crash.

FINANCES OF MRS. EDDY

SUIT INSTITUTED FOR ACCOUNTING OF HER AFFAIRS.

SON IS THE COMPLAINANT

Nephew of Head of Christian Science Church Also Figures Prominently in the Proceedings—Ex-Senator as Counsel

By Associated Press.

New York, Mar. 2.—Public spirited citizens, powerful and wealthy, according to the World today, are behind the suit instituted in the courts of New Hampshire yesterday by her son, George W. Glover of Deadwood, S. D., and other relatives to secure an accounting of the financial affairs of Mrs. Mary Glover Eddy, the head of the Christian Science church.

The movement was a systematic one and seriously begun November 22 last, when a man, who is not named, went to Lead, S. D., where Glover, Mrs. Eddy's son lives, to see if he could enlist the son in the fight in the mother's behalf. This missionary had with him letters addressed to Glover and signed by ex-Senator William E. Chandler, who had become interested in the movement, and has consented to act as counsel. Glover consented to act, but not until he had personally seen his mother, Glover and his daughter, according to the story, saw Mrs. Eddy January 2, last, and what ever doubts Glover may have had as to his duty were removed, it is stated by the appearance of his mother.

By Associated Press.

Concord, N. H., Mar. 2.—Christian Scientist leaders are apparently surprised by the Glover petition filed yesterday. In the petition Glover claims that in the last twenty-five years, in his letters to his mother, he never had a direct reply from her.

By Associated Press.

Concord, N. H., Mar. 2.—A bill in equity to secure an accounting of the financial affairs of Mrs. Mary Baker Glover Eddy of the Christian Science church, was filed in the superior court by Mrs. Eddy's son, G. W. Glover and G. W. Baker, nephew and next friend of Mrs. Eddy.

The bill is directed against Alfred Farlow and other trustees of the Christian Science church in Boston. Besides demanding an accounting of Mrs. Eddy's affairs, the bill asks for restitution in case any wrong doing appears.

In a statement made last night by former United States Attorney William Chandler, special counsel for the action, it is declared that Mr. Glover was actuated by no spirit of disrespect to his mother, but this proceeding is in her real interest. Mr. Glover says that the action is not directed against the religion of the Christian Scientists. The statement further declares that Glover has long thought that his mother was growing too feeble in mind and body to attend to important matters, but that he was unable to confirm this suspicion from those immediately about her, who seemed unwilling to allow even her nearest relatives to have an interview long enough to reveal her actual condition.

Early in June it is stated Mr. Glover during a visit to Concord, talked with his mother for forty-five minutes and as a result decided upon the present action.

The action is returnable at the April term of supreme court, which assembles the first Tuesday of the month. Specifically the bill alleges that the nominal plaintiff, Mrs. Eddy, who lives by her next friend, is and for a long time, has been incompetent to do business or to understand transactions conducted in her name. The next allegation is that the defendants have been possessed of her person and property and have carried on her business. It is further alleged that there is reason to fear that the defendants wrongfully converted some of her property to their own use and that there are particular transactions in which an accounting should be given.

Mr. Chandler's statement further says:

Mr. Glover and his daughter learned that Mrs. Eddy's business instead of decreasing with growing old age, seemed larger than ever. She is still president of the Metaphysical College of Healing and stays at the head of the body of 3,000 practicing healers.

"The copyrights of 'Science and Health,' a book of enormous sale, still stands in her name, while all the other copyrights, weekly and monthly and quarterly periodicals, are in her name. She retains her place at the head of the mother church in Boston, with 40,000,000 members and 'From all that could be learned must be personally entitled.'"

It seemed to Mr. Glover that the income from these sources must be vast—all gathered in by reason in Mrs. Eddy's name, raised largely by active movements, nominally headed by her and to much of which she an immense income.

THAW'S ATTORNEYS CONFER

Will Fight Jerome's Attempt for a Lunacy Commission—They Agree that Thaw's Fate be Decided by the Jury.

By Associated Press.

New York, Mar. 2.—It was determined last night at a conference of Thaw's counsel, held at Delmas' home to endeavor by all legal means to combat the supposed attempt by Jerome to apply for a lunacy commission.

The lawyers were unanimous in the opinion that Thaw's fate should be decided by the jury, and when their conclusion was reported to the wife and mother of the defendant, they acquiesced in the decision to fight the case to the end.

One lawyer said any attempt to send Thaw to the madhouse would be fought bitterly.

CASUAL PHILOSOPHY.

Nothing pleases a little man more than an opportunity to act big.

It's a lazy man who lets his wife do all the worrying for the family.

Many a man walks around on his uppers because he is unable to run into debt.

And many a girl marries the wrong man because the right one fails to ask her.

The man who has an exalted opinion of himself is nearly always a poor judge of human nature.

A town may be built, but according to fiction a village always nestles.

It takes a woman a long time to come to the point, especially in sharpening a pencil.

In the case of keeping an appointment, a fellow who doesn't turn up is apt to be turned down.

Silliness—"It is difficult to combine business and pleasure." Cynicism—"Yes, like love and marriage."

Old friends are like old shoes; they are very comfortable, but we are sometimes ashamed of their shabbiness.

Great bodies move slowly. The truth never travels as fast as a lie.

IT IS TIME TO THINK OF YOUR EASTER APPAREL

That Easter throughout the universe is the recognized formal opening of spring styles, goes without saying; and the man who thinks of wearing his winter suit at Easter will surely be breaking all the rules of the dictators of fashion.

In our clothing department we show everything that is up-to-date in men's and young men's suits, as well as the best there is in fashionable furnishings. Your inspection is solicited.

WITH AWFUL IMPACT TRAINS CRASH TOGETHER

By Associated Press.

Waterbury, Conn., Mar. 2.—With an impact of sufficient force to crush ponderous locomotives like paper, and topple them over an embankment, two passenger trains met in a head on collision early today on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, at Platts Mill, near here.

Four men were killed and a score of others injured, two seriously.

The second regiment of the Connecticut National Guard and Governor Woodruff and members of his staff, were on board the train, returning from a banquet.

The governor escaped injury.

Fred C. Russell, a private, and O. W. Chaplin, a musician, are seriously hurt, internally.

Another Report.

Waterbury, Conn., Mar. 2.—A train, carrying Company F, Second Regiment, C. N. G., homeward bound from the banquet of Company A, same regiment, at Elton, was wrecked last night near Nantucket. Several were reported killed and injured. Gov. Woodruff was on the wrecked train, but escaped injury.
